showed that, worryingly, more than half (56 per cent) waited at least six to 12 months after noticing more expensive than by prescription, accounts for less than 1 of statin sales and is unlikely to have live the same life every day whose priorites have shifted from popular kids in schools, excelling academically,